Hike Legends

Description

In times long past, it was customary for people to sit around a warming fire in the evening after a hard day's work. Nourished by a simple soup and a hard piece of bread, they would sit together in a circle at the so-called "Abusitz". The elders then recounted strange events in the form of traditional legends, which are said to have taken place in Valais "Va Grund bis Graat" und "Der dirr i und der dirr üss". Combined with a hike, the legend-telling becomes an exciting event. All participants are also welcome to try their hand at telling legends.

A pact with the devil, nocturnal ghost horses, the Gratzug and a straw doll brought to life that starts a bloody vendetta on the alp.

The uncanny, the fear of death, the poor souls and other gruesome ideas have influenced mankind since time immemorial. Stories like this make the hairs on the back of your neck stand up and give you goose bumps - "the Griime" covers your skin.

All this is experienced and told during a hike.

Do you get the creeps too?
